Personal Profile

Motivated junior software developer with experience of working on a variety of web development projects. I have recently completed an excellent Software Development bootcamp with JustIT which helped me learn and understand various development principles including AGILE along with core languages like Python and JavaScript. This course along with self learning has put me in a great place to gain employment and continue developing my skills and experience with the latest cutting-edge development tools and procedures. I am also proficient in the content management systems like Wordpress, Squarespace and Shopify.
